 ZATON HOLIDAY RESORT

The F.I.C.C. Rally Commission inspected the resort at the end of September and was very impressed with the set-up that awaits the festival participants. All F.I.C.C. member clubs and federations have since received a video of the venue that they can forward to their own members to inspire a maximum number of campers to sign up.

It should be stressed that the resort is designed with families very much in mind.

The attractions on offer include an aquapark, tennis courts, golf, minigolf, sports and play areas, a well thought-out programme of excursions and wide-ranging events along with entertainment for the young and young-at-heart. Campers will also find a pharmacy, hairdresser, small shops and lots of restaurants on the spot.

The F.I.C.C. General Assembly will be held during the Festival in Zaton (on 28 June). There will also be festivities to mark World Camping Day (29 June) and we will be celebrating the 90th anniversary of F.I.C.C. as well.

NIN is truly worth a visit. Croatia's oldest royal capital and original capital city lies on a small island in a lagoon at the mouth of the Miljasic river near the holiday resort of Zaton. Nin's favourable position in the bay of Nin has resulted in a rich uninterrupted historical record going back over 3000 years. The small villages of Ninski Stanovi, Zerava and Poljica Brig are situated a little further inland in fertile countryside but still not far from the coastal holiday resorts of Zaton and Grbe. They are both blessed with natural resources (sandy beaches, medicinal mud and salt) and boast a number of imposing monuments, testimonies to the country's glorious past and cultural heritage.

There is plenty to do in this protected environment with its abundance of walks and cycle paths, water sports etc. etc.

NIN was founded by the Liburnians in the 9C BC and was an important seaport under Roman rule (Aenona). In the Middle Ages, the town grew to become a political, religious and cultural centre and as a result is now a historically vibrant town with a wide-ranging cultural heritage.

Attractions not to be missed are Nin's Museum of Finds, St.Nicholas Church dating back to the 11C-12C, the Salt Museum, statues of Prince Branimir and Gregor (the latter by Ivan Mestrovic), remains of a Roman villa and, in the months of June/July, one can learn all about salt extraction and production.

For sporty visitors there is a kiteboarding and windsurfing school and, especially with the little ones in mind - a donkey farm.

INTERNATIONAL F.I.C.C. YOUTH RALLY from 6 to 10 April 2023 in the NETHERLANDS

The FICC Youth Rally is a yearly event for young campers hosted during Easter by a country associated with the FICC. Any camper between the age of 14 and 30 that is individually or via their association connected to the FICC is invited. The Dutch delegation has been chosen to host the 2023 Rally. The Dutch delegation currently consists of the Youth Section of the Dutch Camping Club (N.T.K.C.).

Our goal is to organise an active and educational rally, with great focus on sharing our Dutch culture with all participants. The program includes cultural city trips, a sports day, and every day is concluded by disco and campfire. Meeting people from other countries and experiencing different cultures is an important part of the Youth Rally.

The Dutch Youth Rally will be centrally in the Netherlands, the campsite is located 40 kilometres south of Amsterdam. The campsite has wide, open spaces, plenty of sanitary facilities, and a dedicated spot for a campfire. We would love for you to forward this message to the youth of your club so that we can welcome your youth members next year and let them experience a weekend full of fun activities.

94th INTERNATIONAL F.I.C.C. RALLY 2024 from 31 MAY to 10 JUNE in CHEONG PYEONG /SOUTH KOREA organised by

KCCF (Korea Camping & Caravanning Federation)

Under the slogan: “Health and Harmony for all Campers”

NORDIC RALLY from 7 to 14 JULY 2024 in Kiuruvesi/Finland under the patronage of F.I.C.C.

This Rally has been an annual event since 1964 with each of the Scandinavian countries, Sweden, Norway, Finland and Denmark taking turns as organiser.

In 2024 it is Finland's turn to host the event which will coincide with SF Caravan's 60th anniversary. The venue is Kiuruvesi, a lively countryside town in the centre of an area given over to agriculture and forestry activity. The rally programme will therefore include visits to forests, farms, sampling local specialities and tree planting. Once mature, the single tree that you plant can eventually absorb 22 lbs CO₂ annually.

Originally, the Nordic Rally was only open to members of clubs in the nordic countries, but it now welcomes campers from all over the world if they are members of an F.I.C.C. club or federation. So save the date!

95th INTERNATIONAL F.I.C.C. RALLY 2025 in FULONG/TAIWAN from 25 APRIL to 4 MAY 2025.

The venue is Longmen Campsite in Fulong/New Taipei City.

The Camping Association of the Republic of China

Camping/Caravanning/Motorcaravanning

Demand for motorcaravans in 2023 is still high but production capacity is limited

It's a strange situation. Customers are still lining up in droves outside caravan and motorcaravan dealers, anxious to buy a recreational vehicle. But the manufacturers simply cannot keep pace with demand because they cannot source the necessary base vehicles and technical components to make new recreational vehicles. Ukraine can no longer supply cable harnesses, nor can Belarus supply bed frames and windows, fridges, heating, chips and semi-conductors have all been scarce commodities for some time now.

Since there is no let-up in enthusiasm for camping nor in the demand for leisure vehicles, would-be customers are faced with long delivery dates and in some cases rapidly rising prices.

Following a number of "fat years", the lack of base vehicles, faltering supply chains and shortages of spare parts, coupled with high purchase prices, has rather put a damper on manufacturers' sales expectations. But there is some movement in the market since manufacturers are increasingly pulling back from producing lavishly equipped and expensive vehicles. Many campers are viewing some of the massive price increases askance and are looking for cheaper alternatives. This includes quite a lot of newcomers, some of them with young families, who do not want to spend vast sums of money, or indeed cannot afford to do so. Which is why roof top tents have become popular that in bygone days were mainly associated with station wagons. They can now be mounted on ordinary cars and SUVs. For people who prefer to sleep in their vehicles there are the so-called camping boxes. They fit high-sided SUVs, minibuses or station wagons.

Germany Some 78,011 recreational vehicles were registered in the period between January and September 2022. It is true that new registrations were down by 13.4% compared with the previous year, but they were still well above the pre-covid years. With 21,110 units, the caravan sector has shown a slight drop of 2.7% so far this year; 56,901 newly registered motorcaravans represent a drop of 17% compared with the record levels in 2021. The industry is suffering from sluggish supply chains in materials and components especially in vehicle chassis, on top of which there is a shortage of manpower throughout the sector.

Practical tips for campers too

A coffee machine needs to be properly maintained or you are likely to end up with mildew.

If you use your coffee machine every day, it is recommended to run the cleaning cycle once a week. The waste container should be emptied and properly cleaned out and dried after each use and all coffee grounds removed because they are a breeding ground for mildew. The brewing unit should also be removed and cleaned regularly. The same goes for the water container which should be emptied every day and cleaned with washing-up liquid.

Apart from the problem of limescale, harmful bacteria can collect which are not exactly good for your health. Nor should the milk frother be forgotten either because milk residues harbour and spread germs rapidly.

Lipstick smears can be removed from the rim of a glass by means of a damp cloth sprinkled with grains of salt.

Health

According to WHO, in 2020 and 2021, over 17 million people in Europe suffered long covid symptoms (LCS) such as extreme fatigue or muscle weakness.

Music helps overcome anxiety: These are the findings of researchers in Canada. If a person suffers from an anxiety disorder, both music and binaural sound therapy can help. Binaural sound/beat therapy is an acoustic illusion that occurs when you listen to two tones with slightly different frequencies through both ears at the same time. This sound-based therapy has been known to help improve anxiety symptoms (along with medication).

Curious facts/Environment/Culture

Australia: The sulphur-crested cockatoo is up to no good in Sydney. It has learnt how to remove the lid of a garbage can, take out what it wants to eat and create an almighty mess in the process. All attempts to deter or stop the birds have been unsuccessful. Local residents are not best pleased, but behavioural scientists are delighted!

Now is the time to start feeding wild birds. You will need either a feed dispenser or a bird house. Please don't use fat balls because birds can get their beaks caught up or damaged by the plastic mesh. Robins, dunnocks, wrens, blackbirds and starlings all like soft feed. Finches, sparrows, siskins and bullfinches like seeds and grains. But many birds are omnivores especially titmice, woodpeckers and nuthatches.

The octopus has three hearts, eight arms and a brain distributed throughout its body. Thus its brain resides not only in its head, but branches out and extends as far as the tips of its tentacles.

Great Britain's Magic Roundabout consisting of six traffic roundabouts arranged in a circle

This most famous of British traffic roundabouts is located just outside the English town of Swindon. The road junction known as the "The Magic Roundabout" (named after the popular children's TV series) consists of one big central roundabout surrounded by five smaller ones. This bizarre road layout frequently presents motorists with unsuspected challenges. Each of the five access roads leads to the outer ring of mini roundabouts and motorists then wind their way round until they come to the exit they need. Despite the confusion, The Magic Roundabout has proved to have a positive lasting effect on the general traffic situation.

The young Brazilian artist Flavia Junqueira has decorated the Gran Teatre del Lliure in Barcelona with 800 colourful balloons, the theme being "Illusion und Imagination". The intention is to transport us back to our childhood where reality and fantasy overlap.

This exhibition/decoration is only around for a few weeks, i.e. until the helium-filled balloons "expire".

NEWS FROM F.I.C.C. AND ITS MEMBERS

IN MEMORIAM

We have just learnt that Mr. Torgeir Strommen died in his home town of Moelv/Norway on 29 October 2022. He had just celebrated his 85th birthday with his family on 8 October.

Torgeir Strommen was President of the Norsk Caravan Club for many years and, in 2001, organised the very successful and interesting International F.I.C.C. Rally in Selbu/Norway.

He held several posts within F.I.C.C. including being a Council member, a member of the AIT/FIA/FICC Liaison Committee and, following the departure of Bernard Pijnappel, took on the role of internal auditor keeping a watchful eye on the budget and expenditure.

He was a passionate camper/caravanner and, together with his wife Ruth, attended many Scandinavian and international rallies. When he was President of the Norsk Caravan Club it was thanks to him that Norwegian campers increased and became popular far and wide.

Torgeir Strommen was a very likeable character. He was calm, even-tempered, very friendly, fair, optimistic and always willing to help.

He enjoyed working and even after he retired he accepted various honorary roles. He was curious by nature, open-minded and receptive of new ideas and all things modern. His common sense was such that he was able to smoothe out many differences of opinion: his words of advice were duly considered, relevant and, more often than not, accepted.

The F.I.C.C. General Assembly made him an Honorary Member in recognition of his services to the Federation.

Torgeir was a sociable person and one of F.I.C.C.'s true friends who one could trust and confide in, who never disappointed and always spread joy and happiness wherever he went.

We remember him with fondness and say a big THANK YOU for everything he did with and for F.I.C.C. and all that he imparted to us. We are losing a friend, a gentleman, and again we say THANK YOU for all the good, warm-hearted and fun times that we spent together in one another's company.

We send our deepest sympathy to his family.

Driving and diabetes: ETH Zürich, in collaboration with F.I.C.C.'s member ACS (Automobile Club of Switzerland) and Bern University Hospital, is carrying out a research project entitled "Headwind". They are developing an early warning system for people with diabetes, so that when they are driving they are made aware at an early stage of a drop in their sugar level.

Second F.I.C.C. World Congress

For the second time, the Fédération Internationale de Camping, Caravaning et Autocaravaning (F.I.C.C.), in collaboration with an international organising committee, organised a World Congress which was held on 27 and 28 October 2022 in the Les Gatiens Congress Centre, Verrières le Buisson/Massy near Paris. This modern and superbly equipped congress centre is beautifully situated, surrounded by 6 hectares of parkland. It has an amphitheatre as well as several conference and meeting rooms.

The motto of the Congress was “The impact of DIGITALISATION and SUSTAINABILITY on on camping tourism “ and brought together experts from around the world. There were interesting presentations, discussions, workshops and reflections on three key areas: consumers, campsites and the camping caravaning and motorcaravaning industry.

Participants came from Austria, Denmark, Germany, Great Britain, the Azores, the Netherlands, Belgium, Finland, France, Croatia, Poland, Portugal, Sweden, the Czech Republic and Taiwan.

F.I.C.C. President Joao Alves Pereira opened the Congress on 27 October by greeting everyone in the amphitheatre and participants in Europe and Asia who were linked online.

In keeping with the spirit of the Congress motto, the simultaneous interpretation was digital.

Jeroen Vinkesteyn, lecturer at the Breda Institute for Applied Sciences, Academy for Tourism and Hospitality, was the first keynote speaker for the first part of the plenary session “Digitalisation, the benefits of social and digital media for camping tourism“ who took the audience on a fantastic journey in the world of artificial intelligence, avatars and holograms.

He was introduced by Jorian Keij, sales manager and digital nomad of Campercontact NL.

Dr. Xavier Font, Professor of Sustainability Marketing at the University of Surrey followed, posing the question: “What does sustainability mean for today’s consumers?” He was introduced by Gerben Hardeman, a specialist in management and collaboration in the travel and tourism sector. Dr. Font spoke about the conduct of campers on campsites and about campsites as places where people change their everyday habits, behave differently, illustrating his point with graphic examples. One other important topic was the low season and how to attract other target groups locally with different sorts of activities in the autumn and winter.

He emphasised the importance of appealing to all five senses of consumers/campers and explained that camping and caravanning has always been a multisensorial activity. Aesthetic sense, colour and light primarily contribute to a person being generally more aware, perceptive, sensitive.

He gave a number of striking examples as to how one can attract campers through small scale sustainable activities in nature, art or culture-related events involving the local community, and thereby encourage them to come back again.

During the afternoon Gérard Couté and Nicolas Dayot discussed how campsites in France had coped with and adapted to the pandemic.

In the meantime, bookings were starting to increase but in 2022 there was a 20% to 25% staffing shortage in the service industries.

There was also discussion about how campsites must adapt to the fallout from climate change, one example being rising water levels that are already noticeable.

NKC and NKCC Camper Contact Director Stan Stolwerk introduced the following workshops and seminars.

Digitalisation workshop:

Under the slogan “Where creativity meets digital”, Jeroen Vinkesteyn presented, among other things, a digital caravan costing the fictitious amount of €25,000. Congress participants could give their comments on what they made of this digital recreational vehicle via the mentimeter app.

Jorian Keij and Lars Smit from Campercontact gave an overview of the use of booking platforms and apps in the camping and caravanning sector and involved the audience in a quiz they had set up.

Ivan Dvorski from the 404 Agency in Croatia spoke about marketing channels and explained how one can successfully use digital channels for publicity purposes.

Sustainability workshop:

Dr. Xavier Font gave five benefits of design, marketing and communication in terms of authenticity and sustainability. He highlighted the effect of empathy and emotion in dealings with customers and gave various examples illustrating how customer service delivered in a friendly and sincere manner, with humour and dedication makes for good relations that ultimately leads to customer satisfaction.

Finn Bolding Thomsen, Director of Green Key, spoke about sustainability on campsites and illustrated how solution-oriented methods can be implemented that will enable people to achieve a more environmentally-friendly world.

Henk Meiborg, from CutPower AG that has decades of experience with e-mobility, spoke off he new challenges and threats in energy and mobility transition. He mentioned the needs of tourists who travel in electric vehicles and provided an insight into local availability of charging stations, capacity and investment.

Stan Stolwerk gave a brief summary of the first day's proceedings and thanked everyone who had taken part.

Friday morning started with a plenary session. Stan Stolwerk asked Ramon van Reine of ACSI and Tomas Mehlmauer of ÖCC how their organisations had coped with the pandemic. There were tales of staff reductions, working from home and a spectacular repatriation operation of Dutch campers who were en route to Morocco in their caravans and motorcaravans. The audience was asked where they first travelled to after the pandemic and where they were planning to go on their next holiday. It was concluded that 2022 had posted an upwards trend and that they could expect a successful year ahead in 2023, that the pandemic had been challenging both professionally and personally with people being faced with new stress levels, but that it also brought with it expressions of solidarity and called for creativity and imagination in solving unprecedented problems.

President Pereira's presentation was on the theme "A New Industry", how the industry had managed during the pandemic, as shown in a video by Jerko Sladoljev, Manager at Top Camping, Croatia. Jerko Sladoljev, spoke about the development of camping in the face of uncertainty. In many countries, Germany especially, the number of registrations of caravans, motorcaravans etc had increased massively during the pandemic, but the infrastructure and the number of campsites and pitches available had not kept pace with this meteoric rise.

Also a new type of camper had emerged and unfortunately not everyone abided by the rules. Mr. Sladoljev appealed to clubs and federations to do their job and "educate" campers.

At the end of the Congress, F.I.C.C. President Pereira thanked all the participants, helpers, interpreters and technicians for their hard work and declared the Second F.I.C.C. World Congress closed.
